ANN ALIZA & ALLMONY.

Our UnitedStates Courts inUtah a few months ago, came very nearly legalizing poligamy by allowing alimony to Ann Eliza, one of Brigham Young's removed, the next Judge ordered Brigham Young under arrest for contempt of court, as he had paid no attention to the decree of alimony. But the courts have since decreed that the order could not be sustained, deciding that Ann Eliza, (having married Brigham drawing alimony from him. Judge Boreman, on Oct. 18th, in Salt Lake City, in open Court, instructed the grand jury to indict all persons living in poligamy. If that grand jury follow instructions, lively times may be expected in Utah.

HUMANITY

Preparations are now being made for an exhibition in Brussels next summer nat it would be well for some parties to imitate in connection with our own Centennial. There is to be a congress for the discussion of all sanitary questions, especially that of the propagation and mode of travel of infectious diseases, and at the same time an exposition of all means hitherto invented for the saving and preservation of human life, or for assistance in time of danger. A specialty of the exposition will be prerentives against casualties from fire and water, and in connection with railroad travel. Sanitary measures in time of war, public hygiene in the matter of building and drainage, and especially the construction of improved homes for the working classes, will receive a due share of attention. For the purpose of eo-operation in this matter, a large and influential committee has been appointed in Berlin, with the Crown Prince at the head of it, and some of the first soldiers, physicians and scientists on its rolls. There is no doubt that much good may be done by preventing and alleviating human mis-

Electioneering Against the Bonds.

An ill-advised paragraph, breathing mean, uncharitable spirit, appeared in the Mound City Globe of November 18th, which does great injustice to several of the citizens of Oregon, who were in Mound City on the day that the railroad bonds were being voted for. The delegation from this city did not arrive in Mound City until I P. M., and their lodge opened at 3 P. M. Each had their own business to attend to, and so far as we can learn, there was not a man of that delegation who interfered in the least with the proceedings of the election, and it was not their purpose even if they had had the time. And we further wish to impress upon the mind of our extemporary and also upon his readers, that the citizens of Oregon desire the description of the county—as some so as do the citizens of Mound City—and have no jealousies as to what part of the county is benefited, knowing fall well that the growth and development of one portion will be beneficial to all—Oregon.

In the Times of last week is a long list of lands, said to be swamp, lands, with the names of the present owners. The list of the above lands was furnished John C. Bender by the Land Office in Washington. Mr. Bender sometime ago offered to secure to Holt county its portion of the swamp lands, granted to the different States by Congress. Holt county has never made its selection under that act of Congress, for the reason that Helt county has never been furnished with a list of the

BENDER'S SWAMP LAND MORE ABOUT OREGON.

How often, Mr. Editor, do we find people unintentionally echoing their wishes? And from the tenor of a certain article in your last week's issue, we are led to believe that the author secretly wishes what he so loudly laments.
